

Y6 Autumn Term

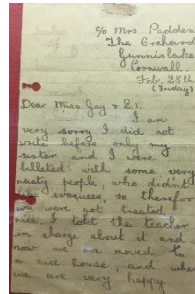

World War II

The following activities are optional homework activities that you could do to further your learning in school. If you complete one of them, we would love for you to share it with the rest of your class, either as a photo or by bringing the finished product in.

Design a gas mask box. You will need to make a net for a cube or cuboid and construct it (perhaps from cardboard and string, etc).

Imagine you have been evacuated and write a letter home to your parents. You could tea-stain the paper to make it look old.

Make a drawing, painting or collage of a scene from WWII or create your own propaganda poster. The choice is yours!

Design and make a WWII-themed board game. It could have question cards or penalties like missing a go if you land on certain squares.

Make Do and Mend. Create a toy using only recycled materials and show off your sewing skills.

Bake or cook a rationing recipe. There's lots to choose from online. Oh, and whilst we'd like photos, with this one, we'd also love it if you could bring some in for us to try!
